Projects

IOT Based Smart Shopping Cart Using RFID Technology

Final Year Project | 08/2022 - 03/2023

This innovative project involved integrating RFID tags and sensors to enhance the traditional shopping experience. The cart was designed to automatically identify and tally items using RFID tags, streamlining the checkout process and improving efficiency for both customers and retailers.

Cricket Score Master

Self Employed | 07/2023 - 08/2023

I independently developed a player statistics management system using C++, incorporating features such as player addition, deletion, search, and statistics updating. This project demonstrates my proficiency in C++ programming and my ability to design and implement a user-friendly system for efficiently managing and analyzing player statistics.

Library Management System

Self Employed | 03/2023 - 04/2023

I independently developed a Library Management System using the C programming language, showcasing my proficiency in software development. This project involved creating a robust system with key features, including adding, deleting, updating, searching, and displaying the book list. By leveraging my programming skills, I designed an efficient and user-friendly solution that demonstrates my expertise in C programming and problem-solving.
